Rapido bring comfort and innovation
to office and living spaces through ergonomic design.

Rapido

For many of us, working means spending more time in our offices than in our homes. Even though long working hours may seem challenging, modern office environments are designed to adapt to today's working conditions and to help us feel less tired while getting our work done.

Rapido manufactures office seating—one of the most important factors affecting productivity in the workplace—at its 10,000 m<sup>2</sup> factory, supported by a team of skilled professionals. Most importantly, Rapido carries out extensive R&D studies focused on human health, comfort, and ergonomics. Its product range is regularly updated in line with these R&D efforts. Designed to offer alternative choices for different tastes, the collection consists of hundreds of distinct seating models that combine aesthetics and ergonomics in a balanced way.

Since its establishment, Rapido has been working to help you work more comfortably, offering seating solutions designed with you in mind.

Yonoh Creative Studio

Yonoh's work has distinguished itself, over the years, by the progressive improvement of its personal voice. They have rarely flirted excessively with an aesthetic trend. Over time, Yonoh has made its way with fine and elegant work, resolved flawlessly. And they have achieved this by working for companies from other circuits that are less interested in spreading and more interested in contributing, achieving a perfect balance between their own voice and the style of the firm.

Many are from the Mediterranean area. Others from more northern latitudes. And it is not surprising, because the main features that, in general, could be assigned to their style, have a lot of contemporary Scandinavian character: elegance, warmth, harmony, functionality and a refined design. But, at the same time, it's a style with an important amount of Mediterranean codes, due to its meticulous details, color and ingenuity. A very Yonoh fusion.

Seen as a whole, the work that they've done so far reflects a very personal character and path, which shows Clara and Álex's determination to be a studio with an honest stamp of their own.

NMD01

Nomad is a seating series designed by Yonoh Creative Studio for Rapido, based on the idea of reinterpreting a single seat shell through different base options. At the core of the design are a timeless form, high seating comfort, and spatial flexibility. Thanks to three different base alternatives, Nomad is conceived as a holistic system that can adapt to various usage scenarios and spatial requirements.

NMD02

One of the key features is the ability of the same upper shell to take on distinct characters through three different base options. The sculptural monoblock base gives the product a strong, architectural presence, while the metal frame base offers a lighter, more contemporary stance suited to public spaces. The wooden star base creates a warm and inviting atmosphere, making it an ideal alternative for residential settings and executive areas. This approach allows the design to be scalable both aesthetically and functionally.

NMD03

The monoblock body and base used in the series are manufactured from polyurethane through a molding process. This construction provides the design with formal integrity, durability, and long-lasting performance, while also enabling the product to be produced on an industrial scale.

Distinctive Features of the Product

- Production and Logistics Advantage

Product variety is generated from a single shell, optimizing material use and resource efficiency.

- Wide Range of Use Scenarios

A versatile seating solution that can adopt different characters for residential, office, and public spaces.

- One Seating Shell, Three Base Options

Adapts to multiple spaces by reinterpreting the same body with different base types.

- Timeless and Iconic Form

A long-lasting design suitable for diverse architectural settings, defined by a clean and sculptural formal language.

- Polyurethane Monoblock Production

Formal integrity and durability achieved through polyurethane molding technology used for both the shell and the bases.

MOCCA

MOC101

MOC102

MOC104

MOCCA is a lounge armchair designed by Yonoh Creative Studio for Rapido, combining comfort, function, and character within a contemporary office language. At the core of the design lies a holistic approach that aims to enhance not only the user's physical comfort but also their overall spatial experience.

The product is constructed using three separate polyurethane molds developed for the backrest, seat, and cushion. This multi-part structure enhances ergonomics while giving the armchair a layered and visually strong identity. A metal frame integrated within the polyurethane body ensures long-lasting use and high structural durability.

MOCCA's enveloping form naturally supports the user's body, while the swivel mechanism provides freedom of movement and flexible use in office environments. The separate cushion structure increases seating comfort and reinforces the inviting character of the product.

Thanks to the ability to upholster the backrest, seat, and cushion sections in different color and fabric combinations, MOCCA offers a customizable solution for corporate offices, executive spaces, waiting areas, and lounge environments. Its soft and fluid outer form creates a timeless aesthetic that harmonizes with modern office architecture.

Distinctive Features of the Product

- Three Separate Polyurethane Components

The use of separate molds for the backrest, seat, and cushion distinguishes the product in terms of ergonomics, comfort, and visual depth.

- Dynamic Use with Swivel Mechanism

The swivel system provides freedom of movement, responding to the needs of modern office environments.

- Layered and Iconic Silhouette

Overlapping soft forms give MOCCA a balanced and distinctive character from every angle.

- Customizable Upholstery Options

The ability to combine the backrest, seat, and cushion in different colors and fabrics allows for project-specific solutions.

- Office-Oriented Lounge Comfort

It brings together comfort and prestige for executive spaces, waiting areas, and shared office environments.

CANS60Q

CAN80Q

CAN80X80

CANB80X110H

CANYA is a table family that brings together a minimal formal approach with a strong structural solution, giving spaces a balanced and timeless character. Designed by Yonoh Creative Studio for Rapido, CANYA has been developed to meet the demands of intensive use in cafés, restaurants, and social spaces.

The supporting structure of the product consists of a four-leg system made of metal legs shaped through a custom elliptical profile bending process. The legs are finished with epoxy coating, ensuring both durability and surface integrity. This construction provides the table with a light visual presence while offering high stability and long-lasting performance.

The CANYA product family maintains the same design character across different scales, offering café table, bar table, and coffee table options that create a cohesive visual continuity within the space.

Distinctive Features of the Product

- Custom Elliptical Profile Leg Design

Elliptical-section legs produced through bending technology give the product a distinctive and dynamic character.

- Balanced Four-Leg Structure

The load-bearing structure provides high stability and ensures safe use across different tabletop sizes.

- Family-Oriented Design Approach

With café table, bar table, and coffee table versions, it establishes a consistent and strong design language within the space.

- Minimal and Timeless Aesthetic

Its clean formal language allows it to easily adapt to a wide range of interior concepts.

MDL03

MODUL is a timeless executive seating system designed to respond to the evolving needs of contemporary offices. Shaped by Yonoh Creative Studio's minimalist design approach, MODUL presents a strong presence in high-end office environments through its architectural clarity, modular structure, and comfort-oriented details.

Comprising single, double, and triple modules, the system offers flexible solutions for executive offices, waiting areas, and meeting rooms. Its balanced proportions, softly contoured arm structure, and slender raised legs create a light, orderly, and prestigious atmosphere within the space.

MODUL is conceived not merely as a seating element, but as an architectural component that completes and reinforces corporate identity.

Distinctive Features of the Product

- High Comfort

Suitable for long-term use thanks to its generous seating area and balanced backrest angle.

- Timeless Design

With its clean and precise lines, it offers a lasting aesthetic that harmonizes with modern office architecture.

- Light Visual Presence

Slim metal legs create a sense of spaciousness and order within the space.

- Professional Use

Designed for executive offices, private waiting areas, and high-level meeting spaces.

LARGE is a seating family that brings a calm yet powerful character to contemporary living spaces through its clean and timeless formal language. Its compact body, defined by soft lines, combines comfort with visual simplicity, while its balanced proportions make it an ideal solution for both individual and collective use.

The shell form, perceived as a single continuous volume, provides a comfortable seating experience through its enveloping ergonomic structure, while slim metal legs add a sense of lightness to the design. LARGE easily adapts to different spatial scenarios with its armchair, two-seater, and pouf options, offering modular flexibility.

Designed for offices, waiting areas, hotel lobbies, and contemporary residential interiors, LARGE is positioned as a product that maintains its relevance for many years thanks to its timeless design.

Distinctive Features of the Product

- Timeless and Minimal Formal Language

Its clean form allows it to easily adapt to a wide range of architectural and interior styles.

- Design Creating a Monolithic Perception

The seat, backrest, and armrest surfaces are designed as a flowing whole, creating a strong visual unity.

- Multi-Purpose Use

With armchair, two-seater, and pouf options, it offers a wide range of use scenarios from waiting areas to social spaces.

- Color and Upholstery Flexibility

Suitable for project-specific solutions through a variety of fabric and color options.
